Introduction

Welcome to Sussex! Be sure to visit all our amazing sites. We have attractions and entertainment beyond your imagination. Anywhere is home as long as you're in Sussex!

Ever heard of a school with its very own zoo? Here we have multiple animals to visit .

We also have beautiful beaches. Golden sand that slips between your toes. We also have rocks and stones. Ever seen the famous Beachy Head? It's beautiful but the erosion can be dangerous so watch out!

Sussex is beautiful, the people are kind and the landscape is stunning. Come, book your holidays now.

The geography of Sussex is amazing. We have some awesome features where we are placed. Our coast line changes all the time; the sea is constantly eroding away the soft white chalk cliffs. I bet you can not go anywhere as aesthetically pleasing as Sussex!

Sussex Geography

Sussex is lucky for its location. We have a number of counties bordering here; we also have the English Channel bordering our south coast.

How many counties have you been to with a sea side? Not many? Here we have many beaches and seaside towns. We also have some very famous headlands and bays, starting with Beachy Head.

Headlands And Bays

back to geography contents page

Headlands

Sussex contains many headlands but Beachy Head and the Seven Sisters are our most popular and most visited headlands. Seven Sisters has seven peaks and Beachy Head bays too.

So what is a headland?

A headland is a piece of land that borders the sea. They are usually cliffs of high lumps of old rock. Beachy Head is made from chalk which is soft rock. So is the Seven Sisters.

Bays

Sussex also inherits many bays. Some more popular and more visited than others. Pevensey Bay is a popular and historical bay. Beachy Head also has a bay at the bottom. Some stony but when the tide goes out you can find some sand.

What is a bay?

A bay is where there is inland where there is a either sand or stones on a ow surface connecting to the sea.

Here is a famous headland and a famous river.

Beachy Head

If you are to visit Beachy Head you will come across large white cliffs by the sea. The view from up there is stunning. But there are some dangers, so be careful!

Beachy Head is a historic place and is also made from chalk; a soft rock. Over time, the weather and the sea have banged against the chalk causing it to erode. Always look out for the cracks at Beachy Head because if you are on one (or on the edge) you are dicing with death!

Cuckmere Haven

The word 'Cuckmere' comes from the old English word "fast-flowing", since it descends over 100 miles!

River Cuckmere starts up in Heathfield and ends down by Beachy Head and the Seven Sisters.

Camber Sands

Camber Sands is the most beautiful beach in Sussex! It is free and pretty. But be careful because you can get riptides.

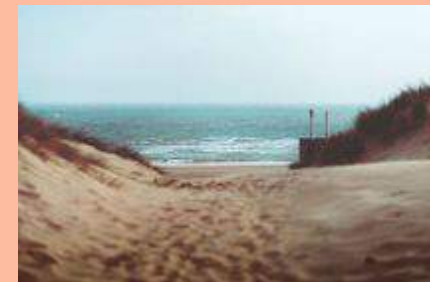

Visit
Camber
Sands
now!

back to geography contents page

The way of swimming out of a riptide is simple. Just swim to the edge of the back and towards the beach. There is no point going straight to the beach because you will just go round in circles!

Seaford Beach

Seaford Beach is a nice beach near the Seven Sisters chalk cliffs. It is pebbly and pretty.

People fled from the cities to the country side and to Sussex. But even then they could not escape the catastrophe!

The black death didn't just only hit people but hit Sussex animals too. Sussex Cows, sheep, pigs and chickens. (But of course people didn't care as much)!

back to history contents page

In the next 5 years, 1 third of Europe's population was dead!

Many people believed that the black death was a punishment from god.

When The Greatest Disease Ever Hit Sussex

The disease not only came from other counties. We also inherited the terrible sickness from ports. Our trading ships contained rats that spread the disease.

Back then, people were not clean and well kept. This allowed the rats to carry the disease across the globe.

Sussex witnessed the black death in 1348. It started when a bunch of trading ships came to port and the greeters were confused by a shocking surprise. Most of the men on the ships were dead and many were severely ill!

To know you had the black death you had to have the following :
Fever, chills, vomiting and lots more. Then shortly after, death would occur.

Rudyard Kipling from Sussex

kipling's story

A man called Rudyard Kipling wrote Winnie the pooh books during his life. He was alive during World War 1 and had a son. By the time his son was 17 Rudyard Kipling decided to send his son to war. The army didn't accept his son as he was short sighted. Rudyard Kipling tried to do everything he could to send his son to war. He knew some people at the army training grounds so he persuaded them to send his son to war. His son did go to war and fought bravely.

1-2 year(s) went by and his son hadn't returned. He wondered if he had died. No one had seen him in a while so he wrote a famous poem about him in his guilt that he killed his son (well sent his son to war).

'My Boy Jack'
1914-18

"HAVE you news of my boy Jack? "
Not this tide.
"When d'you think that he'll come back?"
Not with this wind blowing, and this tide.

"Has any one else had word of him?"
Not this tide.
For what is sunk will hardly swim,
Not with this wind blowing, and this tide.

"Oh, dear, what comfort can I find?"
None this tide,
Nor any tide,
Except he did not shame his kind---
Not even with that wind blowing, and that tide.

Then hold your head up all the more,
This tide,
And every tide;
Because he was the son you bore,
And gave to that wind blowing and that tide.
